

ORRICK'S 2020 RACIAL, SOCIAL & ECONOMIC JUSTICE FELLOWSHIPS

PARTNER ORGANIZATIONS

LEGISLATIVE

Expanding civil rights, human rights, freedom and equal justice under the law
Washington, D.C.

The Orrick Fellow will work with the Center at Howard Law on litigation and legislative advocacy relating to police accountability litigation, reparations and mass incarceration. Orrick Supreme Court & Appellate Senior Associate Tiffany Wright serves as Co-Director of Center's Civil Rights Clinic.

Partnering with police and communities to ensure public safety through just and effective policing
New York

The Orrick Fellow will support NYU Law's Policing Project on legislative measures and litigation strategy development to make policing more accountable. Orrick Partners Josh Rosenkranz and Bob Loeb from our Supreme Court & Appellate team have long worked with Founding Director Barry Friedman.

IMPACT LITIGATION

Combating racial inequities and securing equal justice through the rule of law
Washington, D.C.

The Orrick Fellow will work with the Lawyers' Committee on racial justice, criminal reform, educational access, fair housing and community development, and voting rights nationwide. Orrick has worked with the Lawyers' Committee for the past 15 years, dedicating more than 1,000 pro bono hours annually.

Advancing social justice for under-represented individuals and families
San Jose

The Orrick Fellow will work with the Law Foundation to address imminent eviction defense in Santa Clara County, where up to 43,000 individuals are likely to be evicted. Orrick has a longstanding pro bono relationship with the Law Foundation, dedicating more than 1,000 hours of pro bono service annually.

ECONOMIC EQUITY

Building more equitable, inclusive and sustainable economies
Oakland

The Orrick Fellow will provide legal assistance in securities law, fund structuring and general financial compliance to support Common Future's investments in communities of color.

Supporting formerly incarcerated women and their children through family law issues
Los Angeles

The Orrick Fellow will provide legal and policy support to expand this grassroots nonprofit's work on child custody matters, with a goal of mitigating the effects of incarceration and reforming the legal system to keep families together.
